Nonis 1438

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6. 1743.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Petersbourg, March 20.

here, had an Audience of the Emperess, and of his Imperial Highness, and were exceedingly well received. A Courier from Prussia has brought this Moment some Dispatches, which are said to be of very great Importance, and to disclose all the Intrigues of a neighbouring Power.

Bologna, March 26. At length the Spaniards are once more march'd from hence. Count de Gages manag'd his Retreat like a great Officer, and performed it in excellent Order. It was owing to a sudden Resolution of the Court of Naples not to march any of its Troops, which was owing to the Report of an Engineer in whom the King confides, who assur'd him, that in spite of the new Works, the English might easily bombard the City. The Austrians are expected here To-morrow, and 'tis said, will follow the Spaniards thro' Tuscany to Naples. M. de Gages did not march above 9000 strong.

Schaffhausen, April 3. The Report current that the principal Persons in Switzerland are in the Bourbon Interest, is false. They have provided effectually against their making any Attempt on Geneva, and are about taking as effectual Methods for securing the Valais. But as they have treated the Spanish Agents with good Manners, the common People, who are irritated against them to the last degree, fancy their Superiors in the Spanish Interest. The contrary will soon appear.

Vienna, March 27. The Prussian Minister, Count D'hona, having received his Master's Orders to attend him at Neiss, had an Audience of Leave Yesterday. We talk daily of Peace, and see several Plans handed about, but the Court makes greater Preparations for War than ever. Including her Auxiliaries, her Majesty will have this Campaign in Bohemia, Bavaria, and Italy, 250,000 Men at least. Orders have been transmitted to General Festitz, to dispose all Things for the Siege of Egra immediately, and a grand Train of Artillery and Mortars have been sent him for that Purpose. Courier is sent after Courier to hasten the Hungarians and Croats who are to serve in Bohemia.

P. S. An Express is just arriv'd, with Advice of a considerable Advantage gained over the Imperialists at Schuismuklen, but we don't know Particulars.

Berlin, April 2. The Earl of Hyndford, his Britannic Majesty's Plenipotentiary, received lately an Express, with Advice that the English and Hanoverian Troops had quit the Duchies of Bergues and Juliers, and were in full March for Mentz. Last Night the same Minister receiv'd three Couriers; one from Petersbourg, another from London, a third from Dresden. His Majesty, as we are informed, was on the 29th ult. at Neiss, and was to stay there the 30th. to lie at Schweidnitz, or Lignitz, on the 31st, and on the 1st at Glogau; to Day his Majesty is expected at Frankfort on the Oder, and To-morrow in this Capital.

His Majesty is exceedingly offended with the Liberties taken by News-Writers, to father their own ridiculous and impracticable Schemes upon him. Since the subscribing the definitive Treaty with her Hungarian Majesty, and the Treaty of mutual Guaranty and Defence with his Britannic Majesty, the King has been perfectly easy, applied himself to the Regulation of his Domestic Concerns, and, by his good Offices, has contributed as far as in his Power lay, to the Re-establishment of the Peace of the Empire.

As to the frequent Motions of his Majesty's Forces, these, in the first Place, depend on his Majesty's Pleasure; and besides, Motions, Encampments, Reviews, and changing of Quarters, are necessary to keep Forces in Breath, Spirit, and Exercise. Next, as all the Neighbouring Powers are in Arms, and no Body seems thoroughly acquainted with the Views of the present War, it is natural for his Majesty, considering the Nature and Situation of his Dominions, to be prepared for all Events. Lastly, it should be remember'd, that his Prussian Majesty is under Engagements to his Imperial Majesty, to the Queen of Hungary, and to the King of Great Britain; and ought therefore to keep his Forces so dispos'd, as to have it always in his Power to fulfil those Engagements, whenever he is called upon.

Berlin, April 6. The King returned hither on the 3d, and went Yesterday to Potsdam. His Majesty had before his Departure a Conference with the Swedish Minister. M. Valori, the French Envoy, has dispatched his Valet de Chambre with Dispatches of great Importance to Paris.

Frankfort, April 3. Those who are best acquainted with Politicks, see, or fancy they see, a good deal of Perplexity in the Councils of the Imperial Court. The Disgrace of Marshal B—— leaves it very doubtful, whether his Schemes will or will not be executed. Marshal Seckendorff complains of having all left upon him; while Marshal Broglie complains of the Climate, Soil, Seasons, in short, of every Thing; and longs to leave a Country ruined beyond Expression or Example. The Express who was to have brought us the Particulars of a Victory gained lately in Bavaria, in which 500 Pandours were killed upon the Spot, seems to have mistook his Way; and we half suspect some who came with such Tidings before mistook, in a great measure, their Messages.

We are informed, that the Earl of Stair having lately demanded of Prince William of Hesse Cassel, that a Body of English and Hanoverian Forces might pass the Rhine over the Bridge near Rhinfels, his Serene Highness was pleased to answer, 'That as there were many Places in which they might pass the River more conveniently, his own particular Interests as Stadtholder of the Landgrave of Hesse, obliged him to keep Terms with his Imperial Majesty, by refusing this Passage.' Adding, to qualify this Refusal, 'That upon any other Occasion, he would readily shew his Inclination to oblige his Excellency.' Some Folks are so cruel, to suggest this Story was coined here purely to keep up the Credit of the Imperial Court; and indeed, as Things stand, such Inventions are very excusable.

Frankfort, April 7. An English Commissary is arrived here to provide Forage, &c. for the Auxiliaries which are to take Post between Rhinfels and Mentz. The French have 20,000 Men in full march for Spire, who are to be follow'd by 40,000 more. It is said, that in case these last pass the Rhine, the Earl of Stair and Duke Armerburgh have Orders to give them Battle.

Dusseldorf, April 6. The English continue their March along the Rhine with all possible Diligence. Part of the Hanoverians have passed that River at Mulheim, and three Regiments of Austrians this Day at Andernach.

L O N D O N.

The important News of the Resolution of the States of Over-Yffel, published in this Paper last Monday, is confirmed.

His Catholick Majesty has declared his Serene Highness the Duke of Modena, General of his Forces in Italy.

The French have miscarried in an Attempt to succour Egra, with the Loss of upwards 300 Men. The Marquis de Lede, Captain in the Spanish Walloon Guards, who quitted M. de Gages Army lately, is enter'd into the Service of the Queen of Hungary.

According to the French Accounts, they have 100 Squadrons, and 59 Battalions, in Bavaria.

Extract of a Letter from on board the Rupert, Capt. Ambrose, off Sofa Bay, March 4. 1742.

On the 25th past it blowing very hard Levant, and the two outer Pieces of the Back of the Feverham's Rudder and the Braces being loose, we bore up for the Bay of Sofa; the 27th we got to an Anchor there, and secured it sufficiently by bolting it for the present.

We were very unlucky on our first getting there, as we did all that was possible for Men to do, to intercept their Fishing-boats, or take some Person from the Shore, to gain Intelligence, but to no Effect. We landed on the Small Island to the Southward of St. John's; we had our Men under the Protection of our Guns, as nothing could pass to hurt them, but could gain no Intelligence, a Party of Horse and Foot of about 200 Men constantly patrolling along shore from the Bottom of the Bay of Sofa to Vineros, alarming the Shore by continual Fires.

March 1, at 12 at Night, we saw a small Vessel; I imagin'd it was a Decoy, that they thought we would send our Boats after her, and then they would man the Barks and Boats that lay at Vineros and Alcanaria, and cut our Boats off. We kept Sight of her till the 3d, and found she stood away to the S. E. and the Wind coming off the Land, I could prevent any other Boats going to her Assistance. I then made the Signal for the Boats mann'd and arm'd to chase. At five, proving little Wind, my Barge came up with her, and did intend to lay her on board, on which the Chace fired some Guns at them; one Shot went thro' the Barge, but hurt nobody. I made the Signal for the Boats to leave off Chace. Capt. Hughes and I got under Sail as quick as possible; as all our Boats were out, and there being but little Wind, it was a great Hindrance to the Ship's Sailing to keep them in Tow; I let slip all my Boats, and made the Signal for Capt. Hughes to take them up; at Nine I came up with the Chace, and took her, she proving to be a Spanish Barcolongo, called the Nostra Señora del Carmen, Bartholomew Savoredo, Master, 4 Carriage, 10 Swivel Guns, and 33 Men, bound from Malaga to Barcelona in the King of Spain's Service, laden with 1000 Quintals of Lead for Musquet Ball, and 300 Pieces of Timber for the Use of the Artillery. The taking this Vessel will be a good Piece of Service, as it will be a great Disappointment to the Enemy. Capt. Hughes not bringing too to take the Boats in Tow, as he was to the Windward of me, and feared the Chace would eat me out of the Wind, my Boats were a great Way a-stern by the time I took the Vessel.

I soon after saw another Sail; I then made the Signal for Capt. Hughes to chase, and leave his Boats, which I would take in Tow, as I was obliged to stand for my own, and desired when he had done his Chace to join me in Sofa Bay. At 12 o'Clock he run his Chace on shore at the West End of the Town of Vineros; he anchor'd, and kept firing his Guns on the Bark and Town, to prevent the People's unloading or burning of her till the Boats came down, which were all with me. While this was doing, he observed a Barcolongo and two large Settees at Anchor under the Castle of Peniscola; and believing such Information might be got from the Spaniards on board me, with regard to the Strength and Situation of that Place, as might make the Destroying of them very practicable, if both Ships were together, made the Signal to speak with me. I was then at an Anchor in the Bay of Sofa; I weighed immediately, and by Four got to him with all the Boats, and came to an Anchor within half a Gunshot of the Town and Vessel, in a Foot less than five Fathom Water. We sent all the Boats to take the Vessel off, but did not fire a Gun from our Ships, until we first saw whether they would fire upon our Boats. On the Boats boarding the Vessel, they kept a smart Fire with Small Arms from little Intrenchments they had made, from behind the Walls, and Corners of Streets and Houses that were contiguous; upon which we bot pay'd with our Batteries, below and aloft.

lost, against the Town, and where we saw the Fire come from, and in a little Time silenced them; but growing dark, with a great Surf on the Shore, we could not destroy her effectually that Night.

There happened to be a French Tartan at an Anchor in the Road, which Capt. Hughes ordered to come from between him and the Enemy, and place himself without him. When we left off Firing I sent for the Master of the Tartan, and desired he would go on shore with a Message to the Governor, or Commanding Officer of the Place, to tell him he must ransom the Town next Morning, or that we should lay it in Ashes; they sent to beg that we should give them time till six next Morning, that they had sent an Express to the Intendant-General of the Province, and were certain they would be able to give us a satisfactory Answer. Accordingly, at six in the Morning, I sent the Master of the Tartan on shore, who brought me Word, that they had thrown 200 Troops more into the Town to prevent our Landing, and that they desired us to do what we pleased; that the Inhabitants would ransom the Town, but the Soldiers would not let them; upon which we warped our Ships in a proper Station against the Town, sent our Boats, and burned the Vessel effectually, and then brought a Spring upon our Cables, and began to batter the Town at half past Nine, which we continued without ceasing till One. I fired 520 Shot, and Capt. Hughes almost as many. We saw we had done considerable Damage to the Town, but the Wind coming out of the Sea, we were obliged to get away as fast as we could, our Ships being so near the Shore it was not late to lie there longer. Before I weighed, I sent the Master of the Tartan on shore, not as a Messenger from me, but to learn what Damage we had done, and left Capt. Hughes to ply off and on, till he came off from the Shore to bring the Account.

He told him, That we had destroyed 30 Settees that were hauled up at the End of the Town for Security; that the Spires and Bells of the Great Church were knock'd down, the Roof and some Part of the Walls entirely demolished, most of the Houses ruined, and the Streets filled full of Rubbish; that 50,000 Dollars would not repair the Damage, for which the Inhabitants were loading the Military with Imprecations and Curses.

We understand by all Accounts, that there is a Battery of five Cannon to defend the Town; we saw the Fort and Embasures, and knock'd some of them down; but whether they have Guns, or thro' Fear from our constant Fire upon them they deserted the Fort, I cannot as yet inform you, but we had no Shot from any Battery fired at us. We came to an Anchor in the Bay of Sofa, in order to give our People some Rest, who had been pretty much fatigued, not having had any Sleep for two Nights. The Vessel burned was called the Jesus Misericordia, belonging to Cadiz, bound to Barcelona on the King of Spain's Account, laden with Corn, Callivances, Beans, Oil, and Pork, for the Use of the Spanish Fleet at Thoulon, to be sent from Barcelona in Neutral Bottoms.

The Topfail Bark that lies under the Castle of Peniscola, is loaded with the same Sort of Provisions for the Spanish Fleet, and sailed from Cadiz in Company with this that we have burnt; the two Settees are laden with Barley for the Spanish Army. I hope to prevent their getting into Barcelona, if the Winds will not permit me to anchor in the Road.

On our returning into Sofa we saw two Vessels with French Colours lying in the Bottom of the Bay, and immediately sent a Boat with an Officer, to bring the Masters and their Papers on board. One is in Ballast, waiting to load Wine, as soon as we go off this Part of the Coast, that the Inhabitants may venture to come down to the Water-side to ship the Wine off; the other is a Tartan, called the St. James, belonging to Agde, came from Las Aigles, nine Leagues to the Westward of Carthage, laden with 3000 Fanegas of Barley belonging to the King of Spain, which was to be carried to Thoulon, and from thence to be conveyed to the Spanish Army.

Stopping our Enemies Provision will put them in great Distress, as I am credibly informed they are in Want. As Capt. Hughes's Water is almost out, his Rudder wanting to be taken off, and repaired on Shore, I have taken five Tons of his Water, which is all he could spare from the little he has left to carry him to Mahon; with Orders to take the Prizes under his Care, to complete his Provisions to four Months, to get his Rudder repaired, and join me with all Expedition off of Barcelona, where I am now going myself, and hope to be joined by the Kingston and Guerney.

Col. Rowland Reynolds, of the Third Regiment of Foot Guards, is appointed Second Major in the said Regiment, in the room of Col. Stuart, deceased.

Yesterday about Noon a Fire broke out in the Wine Cellars of Mr. Douglass, in Pall-Mall, which did considerable Damage before it was extinguish'd.

The Press is so hot, that they take those that wear the Badges of Noblemen, &c.

Yesterday a Carpenter fell from the Top of a House in Bedford-Berry, and died instantly.
